BORAH URGES MUSIC SENT TO NURSES BY PARDON FOR PRISONERS

Washington, June 28.—Senator Borah of Idaho has urged President Harding to pardon political prisoners still held as the result of war prosecutions for expressions of opinion.

Senator Borah indicated at the same time that he would soon move in the Senate for a discussion of the pending Senate resolution granting a general amnesty to those prisoners.

He is the author of a resolution which brought to the Senate a report from the attorney general giving the number and present status of war prosecutions under the espionage act and other war statutes.

In his letter to the President the senator expresses the hope that he will "formulate a policy of clemency for the remaining prisoners, and states that "some of the sentences are absolutely cruel and unusual." He also says that "in many instances the whole spirit and the letter of the first amendment of the Constitution was wholly disregarded." He wrote: "I have spent some time in looking into the facts relative to our political prisoners. I feel quite certain that if it were not for the fact that you would come to the same conclusion I have—these political prisoners should be released."

BAD DITS HOLD UP WAKEFIELD MINE OWNER

Thrilling tales of battles with Mexican bandits were told by Ernest W. King, thirty-two years old, and his brother, William B. King, thirty, of No. 46 Byron street, Wakefield, who arrived home after four years of exciting experience in Mexico, where they are the owners of a all-viv mine.

Carrying ugly athletic wounds in his arms and chest, inflicted by crated bandits, and broken in health, Ernest King told several hair-raising episodes of his experiences in that country.

STUCK WITH STILETTO.

He and his brother plan to remain here until September, when they will return to look after the interests of their mine. One night while riding from the mine to his ranch Ernest King was attacked by three Mexican desperadoes who grabbed his horse and demanded that he dismount.

Complying, King threw up his hands while the Mexicans held a revolver close to his ribs. His bandit then demanded that King give him two thousand dollars and also turn over all the arms and ammunition of the mine. This King refused to do, whereupon the bandit stuck a stiletto into King's chest and later into his left arm, the weapon going completely through the arm.

The bandit then fled.

FOUND IN POOL OF BLOOD.

King was found in a pool of blood along the roadside by his brother who went in search of him after the horse had arrived at the ranch with out a rider. He was in bed for several weeks and in a critical condition for two weeks.

Ernest King said business was fairly good and that most of the money had been made in the mines and the oil fields in Mexico.

New York, June 30.—Cave man action may be all right in the movies, but they don't make it with Miss Justice.

John L. Ambro tried to induce her to marry by holding her up in the most famous second-story tunnel for more than two hours.

Justice, instead of saying "yes" to him, had her unwelcome suit arrested.

HARDING'S OPPONENT TO VISIT BATTLEFIELDS

New York, June 30.—James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio and the opponent on the Democratic ticket of President Harding in the last presidential election, was one of the passengers on the liner leave on her last sailing from New York.

Cox and Mrs. Cox and their children will visit the battlefields of the western front.

HOSPITAL SUES ACTRESS

After $25,000 award New Haven, June 30.—Within twenty-four hours after she had been awarded $25,000 by a jury for injuries received when she fell down stairs in Pullman Theatre, Hartford, two years ago, Miss Dorothy Antel, vaudeville actress, was sued for $2,000 by the Hartford Hospital.

Her lawyer, Charles H. Hannon, was arrested charged with interference with Sheriff Peter McEnroe, who attempted to serve papers upon Miss Antel. She is a cripple, and the lawyer claimed that the manner in which the sheriff served them was improper.

Examination of books of the late City Auditor Edward A.weeney by the State Bureau of Statistics and accounts reveal $40,000 missing.

But nobody stole it or anything. Remains the city maintained a fund known as the "Surplus Revenue Fund." For the past decade money has been added to the fund, which, in the opinion of City Treasurer

Belmont, is merely a "paper account," consisting of money due the city from other cities and towns in charity department cases, taxes which have later been abated after considerable litigation in the courts.

From time to time the Municipal Council made appropriations from this account, until the final checkup, made by the State auditors, shows that the fund has been overdrawn $40,000 at the present time, as payments have been made by bonds issued in anticipation of the payment of the account.

'MEANEST MAN' DIVORCEE WHO LOSES $200,000,000 ESTATE MENACES WIFE'S CHARGES

Declaring that he will be the "boss of his own money" and that his wife did not have "a cent to her name, nor a shirtwaist on her back" when he married her, Harry (Left-Handed) O'Brien, who was sued for divorce by Mrs. O'Brien, charged that he is "the meanest man in the world."

Mrs. O'Brien is obliged to pay his wife $15 weekly by order of the court after action was initiated against him. The payments must continue until the case comes to trial in court Mrs. O'Brien declared that O'Brien attacked her last Sunday night when she asked for money, despite the fact that she is about to receive a divorce.

"My husband thought his good-bye in the morning was better than a nickel," she declared. "When he had left I would go to my mother's with the baby so that we both could eat. My parents had to buy my clothing. I lived and ate until my husband locked in a trunk before he went to work. He's the meanest man in the world!"

HUSBAND'S ANSWER.

Here is the husband's answer to these charges as they made it in a letter to the Boston American:

"When I married my wife in the year 1913, she had neither a cent to her name, nor a shirtwaist on her back, and since her marriage I have purchased for her a beautiful home, which cost me several thousand dollars to furnish. I have always been a man of means."

"But I have always refused, as I do now, to give her money for extravagance, which she has had before I married her, and to which she is not entitled. I have paid her, and in each case I prevailed and was discharged by the court. And in each case she returned home to live with me."

HAJAJINATION OF WEALTH.
"Now, if it were true, that she was getting on very well, and that she has always returned and lived with me? It probably would be interesting to know that she is living at home with me now. Now there is no question but that the purpose of her bringing me to court has been to throw away her wealth and the hush that I am an exceedingly wealthy man, and to tempt me to have my divorce in my court, but so far so good."

"Whatever I possess today I have earned by hard work and honest economy, and I do not propose to have my earnings squandered by my wife. Her action in bringing me to court is the kind of a woman she is. I have always been sober, industrious and ambitious, and I have saved some money in the bank, not for myself alone, but for my whole family. I shall be the loser over her disposition."

DIVORCEE WHO LOSES $200,000,000 ESTATE

MRS. MARIE HARKNESS COWAN

First wife of Harry H. Harkness, Standard Oil magnate, who vainly contended his will disposing of an estate valued at $200,000,000. The second will, which was Florence G. Harkness, is said to have been destroyed.

MILLIONS WON BY HARKNESS' SECOND WIFE

AS LEADER OF FIREBUGS

New York, June 30.—The $200,000,000 estate of Harry H. Harkness, Standard Oil magnate and yachtman, must go to the second Mrs. Harkness, who was Florence G. Harkness, Justice Watersvogel decided in the Supreme Court.

The first Mrs. Harkness, who contended the will, and who will receive no part of the estate, is now Mrs. Kenneth Cowan.

MADE RECIPE FOR WILL.

The suit, which has been going on since January 23, 1919, contained an unusual contention. The first Mrs. Harkness was married to Harkness, November 2, 1896, and lived with him until February 15, 1915, when she divorced him in Westchester County.

Through her attorney, Cornelius J. Sullivan, she maintained that she and Harkness executed reciprocal wills in November, 1909, which amounted to a contract. By the terms of this contract, the one who survived the other would inherit his or her entire estate.

After her divorce, the first Mrs. Harkness was married to Cowan. Harkness also remarried. When she died, the first wife said she was anxious to learn that he had made a second will, bequeathing his entire estate to his second wife, she alleged later that this second will had been signed six hours before his death, and that his signature was almost illegible.

RELEASE IN SHOW.

She contended that the second will should be concealed and the original reciprocal will, or contract, permitted to stand.

William H. Rand, Jr., counsel for the second Mrs. Harkness, however, produced documentary evidence showing that the first Mrs. Harkness had executed a general release of all her claims against her husband on December 1, 1916, in consideration of $200,000 cash, and had also relinquished her dower rights in his real estate in Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana.

Justice Watersvogel's decision was granted without the payment of the usual taxable costs.

Reader Takes Newer Form of Iron—Feels Years Younger

"Six weeks ago I saw a special issue of the paper telling how iron made people grow old in looks and energy long before they are really old in years, because, as examination by physicians have shown, an enormous number of people do not have enough iron in their blood. I was then taking Nuxated Iron for two weeks; the results are simply astounding. The roses have come back to my lips and cheeks, and I can conscientiously say that I feel ten years younger!"

The above is a typical hypothetical case showing the results that have been achieved by a great many people who have taken Nuxated Iron for money back offer on Nuxated Iron. We will make the same guarantee, if, after taking the Nuxated Iron, you do not feel and look ten years younger, we will grow old with you. HARMING WILL CAP WITH MARINES

Washington, July 20.—Plans made by President Harding to return next week to the now famous "front porch" on the occasion of the celebration by Marine Corps of the centennial of the establishment of the corps were revealed today.

It is expected to leave Washington by automobile for Gettysburg, Pa., where late tomorrow he will witness the East Coast Expeditionary Force of the Marine Corps re-enact Pickett's famous charge. He will stay overnight at the Marine camp.

The journey will be resumed Sunday and the President will reach Marine late Monday.

The President's quarters at Gettysburg are described as resembling a bungalow of which the walls and roof are of canvas tents joined together, each tent forming a communicating room. The President's own group of tents will include a private room for his own use, two reception rooms, two sleeping rooms and a bath. The whole "Gettysburg White House" as built by the Marine Corps for its distinguished guest, consists of forty-five tents.

WALSH URGES COURTS DECIDE AGAINST HOTEL IN HEIGHT CASE

By Connolly News Service.
Washington, June 30.—The mere threat of government operation of the anthracite mines would be sufficient to end the strike in thirty days, according to Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts.

The administration has the weapon in its hand with which to end the strike. Senator Walsh declared, "If the promise was made at the President's conference that the government would take over and operate the mines, the operators would see it in that it was not necessary to carry out the threat."

"Service to the people must be put above profits to the operators, or wages to the miners. If the weapon of the administration has in its hands the government would take over and operate the mines, the operators would see it in that it was not necessary to carry out the threat."

"People have little idea of the depravation and suffering the people of New England and of the North-west are going to suffer because the strike has gone as far as it has. It is too late now to save thousands from acute distress next winter."

MOSTLY WOMEN ON FULLER'S SUCKER LIST

New York, June 29.—(Driving deeper into the affairs of the defunct E. M. Fuller & Co., the Commodore Exchange house, with a branch in Boston, which failed for $1,200,000, investigators discovered that most of the 18,000 of the firm's patrons were women.

"The 'sucker list' of the firm contained names of persons in all walks of life.

Women far from the regular avenue of communication, who had not heard of the crash of the concern, are still sending in checks and money orders. Some wish to open new accounts while hundreds of them complain of the failure of the firm to live up to promises.

In the amazing career of Edward M. Fuller and William Francis McGee, the operators of the bankrupt concern, it is revealed that they had extensive money dealings with women. Fuller, according to investigators, was engaged in biographical schemes.

WOMAN KICKED START

The same investigator said that the $7,500 with which Fuller and McGee started in business, was supplied by a woman. In the beginning they dealt in no listed stock and according to investigators cleared up more than $300,000 on Crown Oil before their indictment by the Federal grand jury on a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud.

The exact loss to customers of the defunct concern will not be known for at least two weeks, but it is estimated to be in the neighborhood of $2,500,000. The indications are that creditors can hardly hope to recover more than four or five cents on the dollar. They will be fortunate to get this much, according to Wall Street observers who have kept close track of the bucketing operations of the concern.

NO ESTIMATE OF LOSS.

Francis L. Kohlman and Carl A. Lutz, attorneys for the positioning of creditors and receivers, announced their inability to estimate the amount of the failure.

Kohlman said the assets in other cities were under the control of corresponding attorneys. The only report of a bank balance came from Boston, where the firm had $4,000 on deposit.

HUSBAND IN JAIL DURING INQUEST

While an inquest was held today in Dorchester Court in the suicide of Mrs. Dorothy Gilman, who leaped herself and two babies in her Manhattan apartment a week ago and turned on the gas, her husband sat in the Charles street jail awaiting extradition to Monroe City, Mich. He is wanted there for the murder of his wife.

It was known that her husband had another wife in the Michigan city that prompted Mrs. Gilman, but twenty-one years old, to seek solace in death for her husband and babies.

At the inquest held before Judge Churchill, police officials, relatives and neighbors gave their testimony.

Fine Polo to Be Seen in Tournament at Pride's Today, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN

ONE of the "peppiest" couples along the North Shore are Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., who are in the very midst of the sport-loving season along that stretch of coastline.

I hear that the young people are to have a new home in Hamilton. Work has already begun on the place, which is very close to "Bavin Farm," their present abode. The mistress of "Bavin Farm" was formerly Miss Phyllis Sears, youngest daughter of Commodore Herbert W. Sears of the Eastern Yacht Club, and first cousin to the well-known "Klein" Sears.

It was just eight years ago this month that a ceremony of widespread interest to the smart sets of Boston and Othman was solemnized at St. John's Church, Beverly Farms. It was the marriage of Phyllis Sears to the popular young Harvard 19 man, son of the Bayard Tuckermans of New York and Ipswich. Mrs. Bayard Warren (Elizabeth Sears), the Misses Olivia Ames, Sylvia Warren, Mrs. Lawrence Henshaw, and Mrs. William D. Thayer, Jr., then Elaine Desnoes, attended the distinguished bride.

Bayard Tuckerman is acknowledged as one of the best riders along the Shore, and it is a familiar sight to see him trotting along the woody roads of Hamilton breaking in a spirited thoroughbred. He has also some wonderful dogs, especially whippets, with which he often takes honors at the races.

SPEAKING OF WHIPPETS—I am asked to announce that there will be a whippet race between the halves of the polo tournament being held today and tomorrow from 3 until 6 at "Princesmead," the Princes' Cross-shaped house of the Frederick H. Princes.

This afternoon the proceeds from the affair will be turned over to the Community Service Hospital department of the Wounded Veterans, and the Coast Artillery Band, with an attachment of soldiers, will be on hand. Tomorrow the scene will be present while the Navy Yard Band will play.

Today's and tomorrow's equine event takes the place of the Army and Navy Festival, which has been held for several years at the Shore. I understand that those attending the polo tournament may expect to see some of the finest playing the Shore has ever seen for the teams will be composed of crack players from the Weymouth Hunt Club, as well as from the international team, which went over to England last year.

Quite a bit of entertaining is going on in connection with the show today and tomorrow. The Governor and Mrs. Cox are lunching this noon with Mr. and Mrs. Prince, and the Governor plans to throw the ball into the polo game. Major General and Mrs. Edwards are also being entertained at luncheon by Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Condit at the latter's Princes' Crossing estate.

THE jade green and coral-colored frocks of her attendant provided a colorful setting for the beautiful wedding gown of cream satin worn by the former Marjorie Warren, whose marriage to William Whitman 3d, was solemnized at noon yesterday at Trinity Church.

Hard frocks of antique lace enhanced the richness of the gown, the same train bordered with the long, wide train bordered with a satin hem. The tails were caught with orange blossoms.

One of the most active members of the 1919-20 Sewing Circle, the former Marjorie Warren, daughter of the Fluke Warrens of Mt. Vernon street, will be missed by a host of friends here, for she and her young husband are sailing July 13 from New York for abroad. They plan to live for about a year in London, where Mr. Whitman, who has just received his sheepskin from Harvard, is to be connected in business.

The sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Ruth Whitman, as maid of honor, wore jade green chiffon with hat to match. The two bridesmaids, Mrs. Charles Whitman of Boston and Miss Marlon Walton of New York, were given alike in coral-colored chiffon with hats of brown and yellow.

A corps of ushers were on hand to show the distinguished bride and guests to their seats. Following the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Sam McComb, there was a reception at the Mt. Vernon street home of the bride's parents, where a wedding breakfast was served.

KU KLUX HEAD FOUND GUILTY OF ATTACK

Bakersfield, Calif., June 30.—John H. Vielle, former exalted cyclops of the Tati, Calif., Ku Klux Klan, was found guilty by a jury of assaulting Dr. Dwight R. Mason of Tati, by beating him with rocks.

Vielle was acquitted of a charge of assault with intent to commit murder and the jury disagreed on the charge of assault with intent to do great bodily injury by hitting him.

The third indictment on which Vielle was convicted is punishable by from one to ten years in prison. He appears in court for sentence Monday.

Vielle was accused of attacking Dr. Mason at the Tati ball park the night of October 27, 1921. According to Dr. Mason, more than thirty hooded and masked men were at the place at the time of the alleged attack.

Roxbury Bars Sold Liquor Stolen From U. S. Warehouses

Liquor stolen from Federal warehouses here was distributed to, and sold by, more than one hundred illicit grog shops in Roxbury and the South End, according to discoveries made by investigators of the disappearance of this spirit.

A Roxbury warehouse, it is said, is under observation as a base where distributors of the stolen liquor stored their goods until such time as it was safe to dispose of them. Delicatessen stores purchased large quantities of this liquor in sugar barrels and tomato cans, it is said.

SPURNED BY HIS WIFE, NELSON
COMES HOME
Charlotte, N. C., June 29.—Charging that he was wronged to leave town with all spoil by the police and treated very ably by his wife's people, Nelson Nelson, a Vermont student and son of a Vermont state magistrate, is on his way North today after a vain attempt to see his wife at her parents' home in Lincoln.

Cum gratia R. L. Hoffman to investigating Nelson's charges that the police requested him to leave town. He states that the feeling in the matter in this city and in Lincoln does not agree with the hearing Nelson claims to have given by his wife's townspeople and Chief of Police Z. W. Fairies.

In Lincoln those who knew of young Nelson's visit hoped that a reconciliation might be effected and he declared that no threats should have been made against the young man. He indignantly left town, however, after several futile attempts to talk with his wife.

Nelson's wife recently won a suit for $20,000 in the Vermont Federal District Court against Nelson's parents, when Vermont jurymen decided they had alienated the young husband's affections.

MILLIONAIRE'S SON MARRIES FACTORY GIRL

New Haven, June 30.—Lewis Osterweis, twenty-year-old son of the late Max L. Osterweis, millionaire cigar manufacturer, has been married to Miss Ruth E. Stanton, clock in the office of a local factory.

News of the wedding, which did not become public for several days, came as a surprise to New Haven society and to young Osterweis's many friends.
Osterweis was, in former days, known throughout the country as the "millionaire kid," due to the rapid manner in which he ran upward through the ranks of the wealthy family, that he was queathed to him. He told acquaintances here, however, that he had settled down and that he will devote himself to business hereafter.

Five persons, four of whom were small children, narrowly escaped drowning, when a "non-capable boat" overturned during a demonstration which was being made by St. W. Dobson, the inventor of the device, at Quincy.

Dobson, to emphasize the manner in which the boat would stay right side up under all conditions, stood on one gunwale and tapped at a rope attached to the other side, while the children sat in the water. Still doubt the boat overturned.

A crowd of photographers had assembled to take pictures of the affair, and it was the prompt ac-
grapher for the International Film Company, that saved the lives of two of the youngsters. Sears leaped into the water with all of his clothes on, swam to the overturned boat, and pulled two children from beneath it.

DARES DEATH TO RESCUE KITTEN

Dan O'Connell, a motorcycle officer of the Somerville police department, risked his life to save a kitten that had climbed to the top of a sixty-foot tree in front of No.
121 Broadway, Somerville, and could not get down.

When neighbors notified the police of the kitten's plight, Officer O'Connell volunteered to rescue it. With considerable difficulty and not a little risk, he made his way up the tree and poked under his arm, and descended, while a crowd of several score bystanders applauded.

POLICE TO ACT ON CHARGES OF MRS. WOOD

Police headquarters has promised
Mrs. Vera Natalia Wood of West Newton, divorced wife of the "forgave king," that "some action will be taken," she says, on her charges against Traffic Officer O'Connell at Washington

otherwise abused her without cause.

According to Mrs. Wood she has received word from Commissioner Bosson's office in regard to the matter, and she promises to do something about it.

Mr. Atkinson told a reporter for the Boston American that Officer O'Connell "showed at her when he arrested her, and he was called at Washington

FIVE CHILDREN RESCUED WHEN 'FOOL-PROOF' BOAT CAPSIZES

HOW FALL RIVER-NEW YORK LINER PROVIDENCE RAN ON LEDGE IN HEAVY FOG AT ENTRANCE TO NARRAGANSETT BAY, OFF NEWPORT

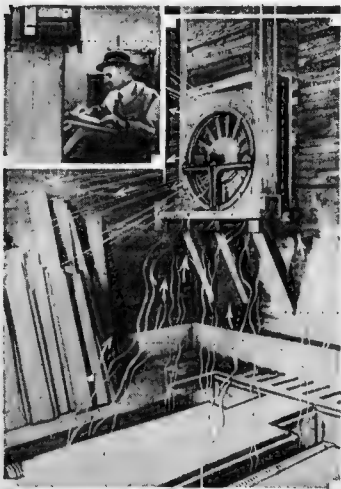

ACCIDENT TO FALL RIVER LINER PROVIDENCE MAY TEMPORARILY FORCE
ship out of commission! The boat is now at Newport waiting repairs. Interviews with the passengers aboard the craft, which ran aground rocks in Narragansett Bay, just off Newport, indicate that everybody on board displayed considerable bravery, although there was an ominous fog surrounding the ship. Among the passengers taken off were Mr. and Mrs. H. Rolase and their children, at top, and below, Gladys Weed and Mrs. N. L. Farris of Back Bay. Map shows location of ship at time of accident.

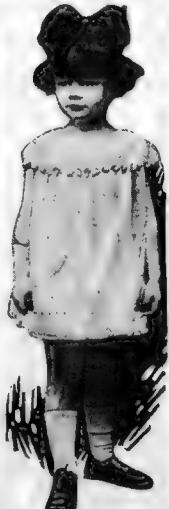

"DON'T GET EXCITED, MR. PHOTOGRAPHER—
Keep Cool, Keep Cool!" That's what Miss Helen Connoughton, of No. 6 Union Park, Boston, cried when this happened. She wanted to get away from the boat so she dashed her sea suit and made for one of the Quincy Market cold rooms. It registered just two below zero. She is shown shivering now. Ask Mr. Tinker, he knows. The poor cameraman got his nose slipped.

LAND, HO, SEA BEAUTIES! LAND A PRIZE!

It isn't always the pretty girl that has the pretty personality. It isn't always the beach lizard that radiates real beauty at the seaside. Therefore, we've decided to give the honest-faced, plain girl a chance. So plain girls and beautiful girls, send along your favorite bathing picture. You've all got an equal chance. Today we have, above at left, Miss Gertrude M. Falardeau, No. 10 Sheridan St., Dorchester. The other girl was snapped by our cameraman. We haven't her address, so will she be kind enough to call for her check. Checks will be mailed at once if we have the names of the winners. Send your entries to Sea Beauty Editor, Boston American.

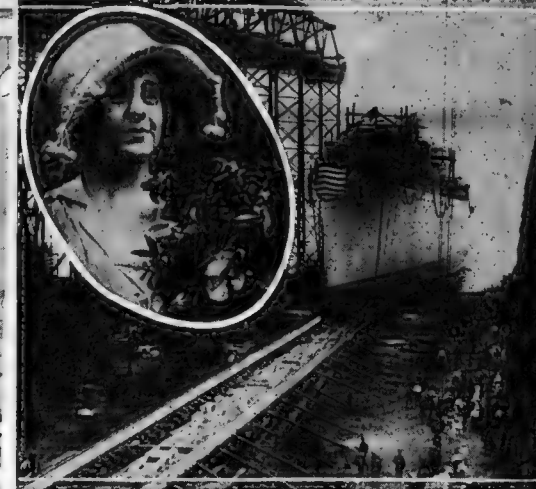

SCIENCE HANDS OL' SOL A SLEEP PRODUCER.
Fancy wood is no longer dried by the sun. Super-oxygen is forced into rooms where the wood is stacked and it dries in a few days. Hereafter it required months to kiln dry wood. Large photo shows drying room. Oxygen is driven upward and then distributed by wheel. Small photo indicates manometer which measures flow of vapor from producing centre to kiln room.

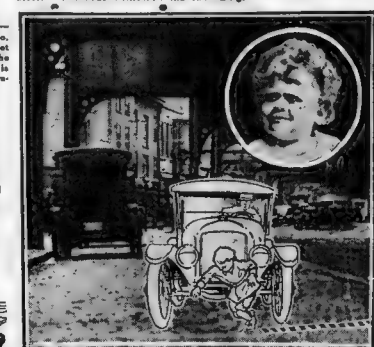

EVEN THE KIDDIES MUST
wear Paris fashions! Sweet little dress of pink tulle, featuring a row of small silk roses bordering the collar edge. It's a dear dress for little dars, but at least it's easily copied. (International News Reel.)

"NON-CAPSIZABLE BOAT" TRIES TO PLAY
submarine! Robert W. Dobson, inventor (man in top photo), and five children narrowly escaped death when his new craft overturned in Narragansett river. Richard Sears and Arnold Balcher, photographers, were forced to drop their camera-taking and play here. Sears brought two of the little tots safely ashore. The boat was supposed to be non-capsizable.

PRETTY DAUGHTER OF DETROIT MAYOR
christens the "Detroit!" Miss Madeline Cassano broke a "cool bottle" over the stern of the new battleship as it slipped down the ways at the Fore River shipyards, Quincy. However, it was cool water. The "Detroit" is a fine ship, she says—"look at the city it was named after." Hundreds witnessed the launching.

CHILD KNOCKED DOWN BY AUTO RECEIVES
fractured skull. As he was crossing in front of No. 2103 Washington street, Francis Brown, five (inset), of No. 5 Nawa street, Roxbury, was run over by an automobile operated by Joseph F. Bell, No. 1 Hughes street, Roxbury. The boy was rushed to the City Hospital. His condition is critical.

"YOU DON'T KNOW WHAT YOU MISSED, FELLAS!"
Take Arthur Rivkin's word for it. He's six months old and heotta know. Arthur was one of the Boston American's guests to Nantucket. He says, in his own way, that the trip was the elephant's tusk. It's fun, too. Why don't you try it? Read the news columns for the dope on it.

FROM VIENNA, "CITY
of Beautiful Women," comes this new silver bathing suit, fashioned of silver cloth with a wide band of metal brocade around the bottom. Miss Julie Wertz brings one to Boston.

"THIS IS THE LIFE," SAY COMELY LIFE INSURANCE WORKERS AT

TEACHERS ON WAY TO HUB CONVENTION

Led by Miss Charl O. Williams of Memphis, Tenn., many thousands of defenders of the Smith-Towner bill will invade Boston, the alleged stronghold of the opposition, today and tomorrow, in the ranks of 50,000 members of the National Education Association, who will gather at Convention Hall for the opening of the annual six-day convention on Monday, July 3.

Belief that the Smith-Towner bill will be overwhelmingly endorsed at the adoption of resolutions, is freely expressed by heads of the association.

"Despite the fact that there has been more teacher opposition to the bill here in Boston than any other part of the country, I know that the bill will be literally snowed under a vote of endorsement," says Joy Elmer Morgan, editor of the Journal of the National Education Association.

BEST STATESMANSHIP.

"The Smith-Towner bill represents the best educational statesmanship of our times. To doubt its success now would be to doubt the tides," declares Miss Williams, president of the association, who arrived in Boston last night from the South to take charge of the convention.

A square deal for the farmer's children, the consolidation of rural schools into a large institution with better teaching facility, sex education in public and private schools, improvements in the physical care of school children and a thorough democracy in the public schools, are some of the improvements to be urged by the visiting delegates.

The problems attendant upon the education of rural school children will be taken during the first two days of the conference.

Defending a section of the Smith-Towner bill said to be objectionable because of the proposed plan of distribution of funds, Joy Elmer Morgan, head of the association's journal, decried the provincialism that would oppose the distribution of funds in remote parts of the country.

ALL ENTITLED TO LEARN.

"Is the child born in remote sections of less importance to the welfare of the country than his city brother or sister, simply because by accident of birth he is removed from the centres of railroads and industries which develop education?" Mr. Morgan demanded.

A reception to visiting teachers will be held by Governor Cox next Thursday afternoon in the Hall of Flags at the State House.

ALLEGED EMBEZZLER PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Providence, June 30.—Harry A. Taylor, former employee at the local office of Hornblower and Weeks, who was indicted with another ex-clerk last week on charges of embezzling from that concern, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in the Superior Court here. Taylor was named in three secret indictments, which accuse him of taking a total of $38,000. He was released on $3,000 bonds, which was furnished by friends who live in Newport, where he has been making his home recently.

Washington, June 30.—The government balanced its budget for the fiscal year ending today. To achieve this result of the federal financial operations for the year was described by Under Secretary of the Treasury Gilbert as "no mean accomplishment," but for the fiscal year 1923, opening tomorrow, he declared the prospects "are not good" with a budget deficit estimated as high as $485,000,000.

Final Treasury reports for the fiscal year will not be available for a day or two, but Mr. Gilbert, who has charge of the government finances, declared that expenditures for the year would be less than $3,900,000,000 or $500,000,000 less than was estimated as necessary by the spending departments at the outset of the year, and that there would be a small surplus of receipts.

"That this has been accomplished," he said, "in the face of the unfavorable prospects that confronted us at the beginning of the year is due to the unremitting efforts of the government departments and establishments under the firm leadership of the President to reduce current expenditures to the utmost limits."

As to the coming year, the under secretary pointed to the possibility of a deficit greater than already estimated, as, he contended, appropriations for next year have not yet been passed by Congress.

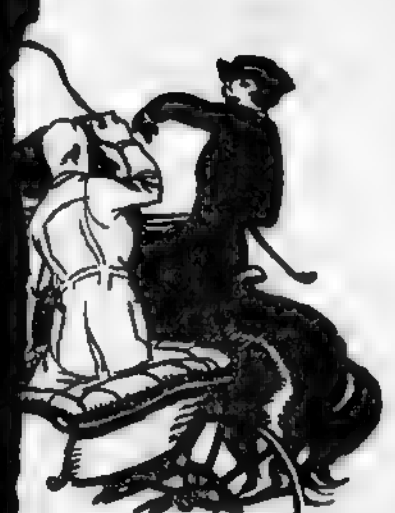

Mr. Gilbert declared that with the approach of the end of the fiscal year the total gross debt of the United States was about $22,550,000,000, a total reduction of over $2,000,000,000 since its peak on August 31, 1919.

"Sylpho-Nathol for sanitary housekeeping"

"Herbert's brother is a Sanitary Engineer. He has been all over the world cleaning up cities and towns where unsanitary conditions are liable to cause disease. He stayed with us over last Sunday. "I wish every housekeeper in creation used Sylpho-Nathol like that," he said as he watched me sprinkle it into the garbage can. 'We'd have healthier homes.' "That's just one of the ways Sylpho-Nathol keeps us well," I laughed.

"Then I told him how Sylpho-Nathol goes into the mop-water. How I use it around bathroom fixtures and as a flush for the closet bowl, how Herbert sprinkles it around the cellar and in the attic—how it is poured regularly down the sink and refrigerator drains, to keep everything sweet and clean. He certainly did approve of both Sylpho-Nathol and my thorough method."

Sylpho-Nathol is an effective, sanitary safeguard that has none of the objections most women have to ordinary disinfectants and deodorants. Sylpho-Nathol is pleasant to use. Its faint, friendly odor doesn't linger.

Sylpho-Nathol is safe to use. Though 45 times stronger than carbolic acid, it's as safe to have in the house as a cake of scouring soap. Sylpho-Nathol is easy to use. Just a teaspoonful in a quart of warm water makes a clear-smelling, peppy-spray solution that's ready for immediate use.

Sylpho-Nathol comes in four handy sizes, 15c, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Most good grocers and druggists have it. If yours hasn't, he can get it easily. Just ask for it by the name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

MAINE HEROES GET PARADE

Philadelphia, June 30.—A thin line of heroes, paraded in battles of the World War, marched through the business streets and by historic Independence Hall today, but they passed almost without notice from residents of the Quaker City. There was no outpouring from the stores and office buildings as the 600 men, delegates to the National Disabled Soldiers' convention, marched or hobnobbed past. No cheers rang out to greet them; the city went about its business.

Men blinded in the World War led the parade. Then came men from crutches. These were followed by maimed or shell-shocked war victims. Men wearing the cross de guerre, the victory medal, the distinguished service star, and other decorations for valor, marched in the parade. They were followed by the ribboned soldiers who had been in the Argonne, the Meuse, Chateau Thierry and St. Mihiel battles were in line. These were the men who five years ago when the guns of the enemy thundered across the fields of France went to offer their breasts as a bulwark to their country.

Some of the disabled service men who marched past the bands and stores on Chestnut street had worked in these before the war. When they came back, their jobs had been filled by others.

MAYOR CALLS PROVINCE ST. CONFERENCE

Mayor James M. Curley today announced that a conference would be held in his office on Tuesday to help property owners in Province street relative to plans for the widening of the thoroughfare. Province street is an alley running parallel to Washington street between School and Broad streets. It is the Mayor's plan to make it a city street and the first link in a chain of what may become a new thoroughfare.

The move to widen the street is opposed by Max Shoshman, head of the realty company, residing at the street and office building on a site that runs to Province street. He has given two feet of the site he is now building on for a sidewalk for the new street and says if more land is taken from him it will interfere with his building plans.

"All Be 'The Friend in Need' This Winter. Prepare the All-Gas Kitchen Now"
COAL prices are high now. With the continuation of the coal strike, prices will probably go higher. When winter comes, it may be impossible to get coal at all. Then will those living in the city where gas is available realize their advantages over those who cannot obtain it. Save what coal you have now for winter; make your furnace heat the kitchen while it is heating the other rooms in the house. With steam or hot water installed in your kitchen or a register where hot air is used. Many find that they can secure enough heat by simply leaving the kitchen door open. You will find this way get all the work out of your coal now too expensive to use for cooking.

DO your cooking with gas. Have an all-gas kitchen, for all-around housekeeping. Remember this—no matter what price coal is now, or will be, gas for cooking is the cheapest method, because you can control it—keep it down to doing just the work you have to do without waste. And you pay for just what you use after you have used it, not before. We will send to you without cost or obligation a representative who will show you how you can heat your kitchen from the central heating plant, thus saving fuel costs. We have done this in thousands of cases where the all-gas kitchen is now installed. Simply drop us a line, call at any of our offices, or telephone BR 7000.

'JOE THE SAILOR' 18 HURT WHEN HELD AS DRUG PEDLAR

They grabbed "Joe the Sailor" today. Joe's a dope pedlar. His real name is Joseph Cheever. Police and narcotic inspectors have been trying to "get" goods on Joe for a month. They say he's one of the biggest dope pedlars in Boston since the most disreputable. In Boston hospitals are several addicts suffering from cancer caused, they say, by using a poisonous morphine mixture Joe got up and sold them. But every time Joe was surprised by police they found him carrying nothing more than a bland smile. Today, however, his clothes revealed hypodermics, morphine and other drugs. Detectives Cadaver, Conner and Monahan, who arrested him, say. They also say Joe has a record having served time in several prisons, including West Leavenworth. Plans to install a cell court he was held in (300 for the grand jury).

'18 HURT WHEN TROLLEY CAR FALLS 14 FEET

Worcester, June 30 (By Inter National News Service).—A crowded street car jumped the tracks at Carbondale, twenty miles north of here today and plunged from a bridge into a cold brook, a drop of fourteen feet. Eighteen of the passengers were injured, some gravely fatally. Policemen and firemen were rushed to the scene to aid in the rescue work. Ambulances were summoned from all hospitals in Carbondale. Automobiles were also pressed into service in removing the injured. Joseph Barrett, sixteen years old and a student at the Carbondale high school, was killed as the car came along and it hit the rails, were buried under the wreckage and little hope is held for their recovery. The rear truck of the car left the track just as it reached the bridge. The rear end of the car plunged into the brook and trolley poles were avoided the car from submerging.

DAVIS CUP TENNIS MATCH MAY BE STAGED AT LONGWOOD

GET OUR DOGS IN THE RING

Following a meeting of the Davis Cup committee called to consider requests for a decision from the French Lawn Tennis Federation and Gerald L. Patterson, as captain of the Australian team now in England, the United States Lawn Tennis Association yesterday called its recommendations to the committee concerned.

The sequence of events leading up to these requests was that Australia, in forwarding its challenge for this year's contest, notified the United States that it desired to play its matches here.

After the draw was made the United States advised the Australian association of its recommendation that at least the first two rounds should be played in Europe, to serve the interests of ten of the fourteen competitors.

Subsequently the Australian L. T. A. agreed to this proposal and has already played its match against Belgium. Then the National Association wrote to the French Lawn Tennis Federation, stating that from a study of the draw France and Australia appeared likely to meet in the semi-final of upper half.

However, the French Federation called last week requesting the match with Australia take place in England, about July 14.

In the meantime, the United States had arranged to play Czechoslovakia on the thirteenth and had engaged the passage on the Majeatic, sailing for

SOMERVILLE GIRL STAR ON THE DIAMOND

MISS ANNA MURRAY

Michigan City, Ind., June 30.—There's an undercurrent to the boxing way. It is to the effect that Rocky Kansas is going to "take" Benny Leonard here July 4. Tex Rickard has insured Leonard's title for $100,000. He fears Kansas may come home the champion at Michigan City and upset his coming Leonard-Tender match at Jersey City, July 28.

There's the answer! Seriousness in the Kansas training camp speaks out loud. Rocky is making every minute count. His corner confidence.

Whisper—clean-cut over Low Tender, Willie Jackson, John Danile and his thirty-second knockout of Richie Mitchell, have built the Italian up mentally. And Kansas has knocked down every opponent who has faced him recently, excepting Leonard.

Kidnap down for the count of five. Jackson down for the count of five. Wellman down for the count of five.

George K. O. Chaney down for the count of nine. Gene Delmont down for the count of eight. Frankie Schiele, who best Dave Shude, down for the count of five.

Richie Mitchell down for the count of five. The first time in the history of the count of nine in the return match.

This is just a partial list of his knockdown score card. Add to three a string of some thirty-two knockouts and you have the Kansas left hook down it. It doesn't travel far. It doesn't have to, for he has the arms and shoulders of a light heavyweight.

Kansas is a rougher through and through. But he doesn't use the peculiar Tender stance.

He writes with his left hand. He uses spaghetti with his left hand. He catches his checks with his left hand and everything.

The Buffalo Italian fights on the order of Harry Greb—never stops. There's just one man between him and the title now.

And he has Leonard figured. Fourteen rounds—the scheduled course here—he is at his best. Lurking in the Italian's brain is the idea he'll knock Leonard down and maybe OUT.

Hence Rickard's $100,000 insurance of Leonard's title. Hence the gathering Kansas under-

GOLF FANS REGRET DEATH OF "TINY"

The passing of Robert W. "Tiny" Maxwell will be learned with deep regret by football followers the country over.

For a time the two teams played evenly, but roughness again began to break out and after one more game between two rival lineups, one of the captains who thought his man was not at fault turned up to his referee with a broken leg.

"Tiny" served as referee in Harvard-Yale, Harvard-Vinceton, Yale-Vinceton, Dartmouth-Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh-Georgia Tech, Army-Navy, Harvard-Centre games of recent years, and was regarded as one of the most capable officials in the country.

The game referee was a graduate of Swarthmore College and during his undergraduate days was the star lineman on the gridiron team and a star weight man on the track team.

He immediately upon his graduation "Tiny" entered the newspaper game as a sports writer and his ability and talent soon won him a place among the leading sports experts in the country. A number of years ago he was made sporting editor of the Evening Leader of Philadelphia, and of such high quality were his writings that, in answer to a widespread demand, the Evening Leader purchased him to furnish it a daily column of sport comment, which column was syndicated throughout the country.

His advent as a college football official came during his early newspaper career, and a college in which he worked soon attracted the attention of the leading colleges, with the result there was an annual scramble to secure him as referee by all the leading colleges of the East.

On the field "Tiny" evidenced not only a thorough knowledge of the sport and intent of the rules, but an ability to handle the nervous players.

"Tiny" let you play the most of a game you want to, he remained to two rival captains after vainly attempting to tame down a very scrappy game.

He had sent several players from the field for unnecessary roughness.

"Tiny" was a prince of good fellows. Newspaper men visiting Philadelphia were his special concern. His drinks and typewriters always were at their disposal and his big suite was always packed with out-of-town scribbles when anything big was on in "Tiny's" town.

"Tiny" was a fellow player's ally and a big fellow in every other way.

TAD'S TIDBITS

THE FABLE OF THE TWO CHAMPS
Once upon a time there was a lightweight boxer champion who had all the money in the world except six or seven dollars.

There was also a welterweight champion who was so old and brittle that all the posts in his neighborhood had to be padded so that he wouldn't crack if he bumped one.

The two champs went out one day to buy straw hats. In other days a hay billy set you back one buck but today they had to dig up a five or six apiece. There was much indignation.

On the way home they decided that they'd get their jack back, so agreed to meet in the ring for a big prize.

Everything was all signed and the purse settled upon and the date agreed upon and the posters printed and announced suddenly they remembered that one of them must GET THE DECISION.

It would be hard to box fifteen rounds and make it look so even that the referee would call it a draw. The lightweight champ wouldn't agree to lose because he wouldn't draw the gate any more. The welterweight champ refused to lose the decision because his title would go too.

They finally decided to end it all with a foul so that they could GET THE DOUGH and still hold their titles.

So they met and fought a furious fight. The reporters at the ringside shook with excitement, the spectators fell out of their seats and the referee was to be feared from all four sides of the ring.

Just as the fight was warmest, the lightweight champ hit the welterweight's champ with his harness punch and the latter fell the floor a few feet like a star.

The referee yelled, "The latter wasn't watching closely so the lightweight champ said."

"HEY, HEHEHE, LOOK I'VE GONNA GIVE HIM A SMASH BY THE JAW" and he did, and the referee says, "You lose, but you're still champ. So he did, and he pointed to the referee and said, "I was still writing on the canvas, yelling, 'I'm dying, Egypt, Egypt.'"

MORAL—Only get excited over the preliminary bouts. They haven't sense enough to frame.

Joe Choyinski Visits Home Town
Joe Choyinski, the California Chrysanthemum, is on a visit to Tipton, his home town. Joe is miffing the old farmer and gray bearded pals of his youth.

A reporter interviewing him, who thought of the present day crop of champs. Joe laughed and refused to say. He did claim to be the "mosshead" champ, the best big man in the ring today, and one who is liable to hold the title quite a while.

The interviewer then wrote: "Joe told a little story also to show why he didn't like to express opinions that might lead to arguments with present-day fans."

"A while back," he related, "I read an article written by Mike Gibbons where he said that Benny Leonard could have whipped Jack McCalliffe or any other lightweight that ever lived."

"I looked into the record book and found that when McCalliffe was fighting Gibbons was but five years old."

"You can beat it. A lot Gibbons knows about Jack McCalliffe."

Curb Supreme Court

How Can Be Devised for Prevention of Such Decisions as Killed Child Labor Law

Secretary Hoover says that the working of child labor in our States is a blight on the country worse than war. He is right. But it is a blight which the country through its political functions of its institutions would have abolished ten years ago if the United States Supreme Court, traveling outside of its powers in violation of the Constitution by assumption of authority, had not struck down the act of Congress which was aimed at the employment of child labor in the backward States.

Mr. Hoover's remedy is a Constitutional Amendment. Senator La Follette's remedy is a permanent method of keeping the United States Supreme Court within its constitutional limitations.

We agree with Senator La Follette that a method can be devised by which the Supreme Court will be left absolutely free from any political influence on matters strictly judicial and can be made to keep its hands off political questions. It will be a great advance in our Constitutional progress.

Today the Supreme Court acts as the House of Lords used to act in England. It puts the brake on and often locks the wheels of progress by destroying progressive laws which Congress passes. The courts of none of the great countries of the world have any such power. We have no real democracy so long as nine nice old gentlemen, appointed for life, are permitted to exercise such an absurd power.

The necessity of getting a Constitutional Amendment every time a majority of these gentlemen do not like the politics or the sociology of a law is, in other countries, unnecessary and entirely contrary to the spirit of our democracy.

Germany and Her Royalty

She Might Learn a Lesson From France

Copyright, 1922, by Rex Company

German reactionaries, not satisfied with an autocratic system that set their nation back 100 years, have murdered Rathenau, one of the most useful men in Germany. And they would murder Germany with their stupidity, but for the intelligent classes, the workmen, thinkers, and Social Democrats that believe in a republic.

In such a time as this the Germans should borrow a lesson from the experience of the French. They do not go half way. When they got rid of their kings they made a thorough job. No French member of the former "royalty" can be in the French army, or sit with French lawyers, and a real "pretender" to the throne cannot enter France. The Germans might wisely borrow, buy or beg back one of the Pacific Islands that the allies took lastly from them, and establish there a well watched colony of Hohenzollerns and leading reactionaries.

The Dutch say that the Kaiser in Holland is well watched. That is what the French thought about Napoleon when he was at Elba. But he really landed back with France at his heels to spend 100 destructive days.

The Real Cinderella

The Prince Never Found Her. Just as Well for the Prince's Children, Perhaps

Copyright, 1922, Rex Company

Miss Van Cleve writes for Mr. Och the following very pretty but rather pessimistic little poem, showing, according to her idea, what REALLY happened in the famous story of Cinderella, the Fairy Prince, the little slipper and the wicked stepmother.

CINDERELLA
Said she was tired
Of seeing that silly thing about,
So she threw it away.
I often see the Prince
When he comes to dine with my stepmother.
(His mother-in-law):
He's grown fat and stodgy;
And his eyes are dull
From overeating.
I know he isn't happy;
And I sometimes wonder Why he didn't search just a little longer.
But he never does, you know;
Never sees what is just around the corner.
So I'm still sitting ashes;
But at least I've kept
The other slipper—and my dreams!

FLORENCE VAN CLEVE.

It's a nice little poem, and clever, although it takes rather a sour view of life. The last line makes it end cheerfully, as all poems should do.

The philosophy or theory of the poem, however, isn't quite sound. The Prince might reply to Miss Van Cleve, "It is lucky for me that I didn't continue my foolish running around with the slipper. For look at the splendid children that I have by Cinderella's stepmother. Big, strong men; energetic women, making reputations for themselves."

While I was going around with that little slipper in my hand, foolishly hunting a girl with the smallest feet, when I should have been looking for a big forehead, two things happened to me. In the first place I went to a circus and saw a midwife with a foot much too small for the slipper, but with no brains. I said to myself, "Let me think about this a little."

"Next I read Wilson's poem about 'The Snows of Yester year,' and was struck by the line describing 'Bertha of the big feet.' She was Charlemagne's mother. I asked myself, 'If Bertha with such big feet could produce such a wonder-ful son as Charlemagne, builder of a great empire, giant of his day, why am I hunting for a woman with little feet?' For, after all, what matters is not my child's vanity about the size of his small feet, but the size of his mind."

LEAVE BEHIND ME.

"I dropped the little slipper and my hunt for its owner. I married the stepmother, rather cross, it is true, also with thin lips. But she is very energetic. She has kept me in order, she cut down my foolishness. She made me go to bed early. She hired the best nurses for the babies."

"Now that I am old, and will do just as well as any other man, and I have got what a small-footed wife might NOT have given me, VERY ABLE SONS AND DAUGHTERS."

The Voice of New England

Rotten Railroad System

Editor Boston American:

"Stranger! said something. The biggest knock to Boston is the rotten railroad system. I have a Summer home on the Cape and bring my family from the West to spend the Summer. This year I could not get a drawing room compartment or even a lower berth from New York to Boston. We had to take uppers and come in instalments, part family on the 11 o'clock, part on the 1 o'clock train. I was so angry I felt like sending out notices through our organization telling Summer resorters to "stay away from New England." When I asked the Pullman ticket agent at the Grand Central station why they didn't accommodate the crowds in line and put on an extra car, he said, "Not for Jews and his twelve disciples after 6 o'clock."

Railroads Harm Themselves

Editor Boston American:

Just a word about the miners' strike. I spent the better part of a year in the coal fields of West Virginia. They seem to me to be a very honest and hardworking people. The miners seem to be well paid, the diggers getting from $45 to $115 for twelve days' work. I cashed many a check for $100 to $225 for twelve days' work.

They are like a lot of simple-minded children who have to be humored. They seem to have no law. In the place where I was nearly every miner carried a gun. I did not. If these things were taken away from them the strike would be over in ten days. They are ready to fight or shoot you on any little pretense.

OF COURSE YOU HAVE DONE IT, BROKEN INTO VERSE

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

Yes, of course, you've done it—on occasion broken into verse!

They all do it. So why not you? That was your reason. Love, most likely. For the divine passion is never content with mere mortal prose. That you are one knows that even the simple words "I love you" constitute the loveliest lyric which human tongue can utter and other human ears receive.

Someone who does not habitually poetize is moved to occasional verse by patriotic ardor, by enthusiasm for a cause, or by the contemplation of an occasion, a relationship, or a person, that fairly insists upon some elevated form of utterance.

But evidently our newspapers thought it sufficiently unusual to make one's best in verse, to chronicle the fact when Frederick B. Castle, of Newark, N. J., left a last will and testament in poetic terms.

When the document was admitted to probate, it was found to say: "All my earthly goods I leave to my dear wife. I leave forevermore no freely given—no limit do I fix. This is my will, and she the executrix."

And he was on an insurance policy. But you never can tell who will break out in verse or when or why, seeking the immortal line. This is the fact when Homer or the author of Job. We all seem to be in danger of enacting that quaint charac-

cand was your editorials express the voice of the people. Through your efforts many laws have been put in force, and others eliminated. Keep up the good work.

Each year the government takes from us a portion of our earnings. This is not long as we live. Then at our death "they" step in again on the "inheritance tax." It makes one think that the party who said, "They got me a big fat gold mine," meant our Uncle Sam. The government is not in any hurry to collect its European debts, so why punish its own citizens for not paying theirs?

Some children do not have a

There are parents who feel

But parents who complain

when the kiddies get

Garrett P. Serviss on Chemical Wonders

By Garrett P. Serviss.

I HAVE seldom seen a more convincing exposition of fundamental practical science of universal importance to humanity than is contained in a recent address by Dr. H. B. Bakeland, the chemist. His subject was the human direction of power.

The beauty of his address is in its logical array of facts. Most of these facts are well known known to all intelligent people, but few have the grasp upon the whole of the facts, and the logical connection between them together and discovering their combined meaning.

Dr. Bakeland calls upon his fellow chemists to "turn again to the sphere of action. So we may truly believe, and to "try what we can. It is not enough to become apostles of destruction. Instead of destruction, let us be apostles of progress, peace and happiness.

Let me point out one of the directions in which he sees the way of progress open. If only we will take it. After recalling the history of the chemical industrial revolution, he points

stowed upon mankind by Louis

Pasteur through his investigation of the processes of fermentation, a t o n, which incidentally has been the basis of modern sanitation, surgery and medicine. Dr. Bakeland makes this point interesting in connection with the chemical industry in the United States which is accepting of an incomparably wider scope than as soon as it is hampered in a more efficient commercial production and

SEEN AND HEARD

By William F. Connery.

Copyright, 1922, Rex Co.

IF WILLIAM F. CONNERY, the general secretary to Mayor McWhirter of Lynn, spits as many animes in his campaign for Congress as he did overseas when he was the lucky bug-fighter for the office in his division, the fight is all over but the shouting.

Connery, once a headliner on a vaudeville circuit, has never lifted it down. Hundreds of letters from all parts of the country are pouring in to the young campaigner from wounded dough-bors whose lonely hours were brightened with his spontaneity and who are with him now in his fight for a congressional seat.

The "Office Visitor" That's the genial man bestowed upon a REGENT GEORGE H. BAKER of the Army Reserve Unit, stationed at the Marine Corps office. The sergeant took to persuade all recruits who are not 5 feet 6 inches in height and 150 pounds in weight—the Marine Corps requirements—to give the sergeant a visitation. If not over, as they require only 5 feet 4 inches in height and 145 pounds in weight, the sergeant will accept as an applicant. Baker has left the marine recruit office, REGENT GEORGE H. BAKER, and goes into action on a happy blend of humor and Roosevelt.

A Russian Jew was the first lad from Plymouth to give his life in the World War. He was RABBI STEPHEN S. WISE of New York. RABBI WISE was in Boston a short time ago, talking on "Polon Gass" when he made his interesting announcement concerning the famous port to which the Mayflower was afloat. "Further," he declared, "the lad was born in Russia, emigrated to this country, and when the call came he heard it and answered it."

For sight of a perfect "waiting hardware store" please observe SENATOR HENRY CABOT LODGE at Republican banquets nowadays. Under his arms are often two large bundles. From these he takes furling-made cloaks, watches, knives and tools and proceeds to lambaste the importer and laud the Republic can tariff bill.

The man with the longest tie in Boston is ROBERT B. MANN. He is officially known as Special Deputy Secretary of the Port of Boston. Deputy Mann spends the greater portion of day and night guarding the citizens from the machinations of run runners.

The shortage of nurses and the large number of patients at present at the City Hospital has caused the trustees of that institution to call for help earlier than usual. To solve their problems they are about to hire twenty persons who will be classified as "domestic servants." These will relieve the nurses of a great amount of minor work.

Now, let us turn to the purely scientific aspect of the subject. Dr. Bakeland reminds us that his liquid lead, which he has found to be more volatile than gasoline and mixing readily with water, is not only cleaner but is incomparably less dangerous, whether used in the household for heating or illumination, or in a motor car or stationary engine for locomotion. It is a product of the chemical industry in our corner of space or corner of time. In short, it is a gift from the one of our great storehouses in our corner of space or corner of time. It is a product of the chemical industry in our corner of space or corner of time. "No man, no photo-chemical synthesis, no photo-chemical synthesis, no photo-chemical synthesis," this, slightly expanded, is Dr. Bakeland's rubric.

Medbury Says—Graduating Exercises Are Always Public for Some Reason

By William F. Connery.

Copyright, 1922, Rex Co.

A school child's one ambition in life is to graduate. An education does not do you much good nowadays, but a diploma makes a darn nice thing to hang in the parlor.

Your friends might not be able to tell you whether you are talking to you, but there's no doubt about it when you've got a certificate hanging over your mantle piece.

One guy got a diploma from college; then he had to take a post graduate course to read it.

One of our richest men today has a diploma from Harvard, but only he never went to school, and besides it wouldn't have done him much good, anyway,

because he didn't have any parlor to hang it in.

But he was just as fit off as he bought a diploma from the guy who lived next door.

Securing a diploma is like a dog getting a piece of meat. You have to keep it before you'll give it to you.

Graduating exercises are always public. For some reason or other the school board doesn't want to let you make a fool out of yourself in private.

They want to let you wait until you get home before you show your ignorance.

They know that you don't know anything, but they hate to let it be known that it is so.

Ignorance is bling, and they want you to show your friends that you're happy.
